ORGANIC Flours & Grains & Seeds

ABOUT US

Since 1996, BreadHaus has been a family-owned, retail bakery specializing in traditional rustic breads & sweets. We make our breads and sweets from scratch using ORGANIC flours, grains, & seeds. Our hearth breads are shaped by hand, baked directly on the oven floor in a deep deck, European oven, and contain no added sugars, fats, dairy or eggs. The eggs we use in our sweet items come from cage-free chickens. We truly care about our environment and the quality of our products.

ABOUT OUR RUSTIC BREADS & SWEETS

THE SCOOP ON FATS AND SUGARS

- Our hearth breads, pretzels, German rolls, & train rolls: NO added sugars, fats, dairy, or eggs
- Our sweet items: Trans fat free and made with a higher emphasis on fruits & nuts, not excess sugar and fats.
- We use Zulka Pure Cane Sugar – unrefined, GMO free, and vegan. (not processed with animal bone char)

LONG-FERMENTED BREADS – TASTE TAKES TIME

Our hearth breads are made slowly with little or no commercial yeast. The long (3 to 5 days) fermentation process allows flavor compounds to develop in the dough, giving our breads a rich and complex flavor.

TO SLICE OR NOT TO SLICE

Breads baked directly on a deck develop a protective, crispy crust for the moist interior. We will gladly slice your bread upon request, but keep in mind that pre-slicing bread accelerates the staling process. If sliced, the bread needs to be stored in plastic, which softens the crust. We recommend that you slice your bread just prior to eating.

HOW TO STORE

Our breads are made without preservatives or additives and are best eaten fresh within 2-3 days.

Fresh bread: best stored in a paper bag at room temperature to retain its crispy crust. The crust gets a little harder this way (remember, it's protecting the bread's interior). If you prefer a softer crust or wish to keep the bread an additional day or two, a plastic bag is better. Day old bread can be lightly toasted or heated for a "just out of the oven" freshness.

Refrigerating bread: not recommended unless it will be toasted or reheated. Storing bread in plastic in the refrigerator keeps it from molding, but causes it to stale faster (bread stored in paper at room temperature rarely molds).

Freezing bread: preferred method if not eaten within 3 days. Works great for up to 1 month. Always freeze in plastic and as soon as possible after purchase to retard the aging process.

Reheating whole bread: 300F for about 20 minutes (30 minutes if frozen) will temporarily reverse any staling. During reheating, do not wrap the bread in foil unless you want a soft crust. Reheated breads will stale much faster than fresh breads, so only reheat as much as you plan to eat.

Pretzels/Brötchen: Eat fresh on day baked or immediately freeze in plastic. Reheat frozen (without thawing) in a toaster oven at 300F for 3-5 minutes.
